COVID-19 statement

The current state of information tells us that the Coronavirus COVID-19 is likely being spread by respiratory droplets and via hand-to-surface contacts. This makes adequate hand hygiene of paramount importance.

Also, it is necessary to perform a very regular and very thorough cleaning of all surfaces that are subject to hand contacts. This is because the virus is able to survive on these surfaces for several hours or days.

We would like to point out that HP Clean, Multiclean and Powerwipes are powerful, professional grade cleaning agents that have been developed to remove visible and invisible pollution from humane or animal sources, such as saliva traces, sebum (skin oils) and protein based pollution.
